The Kissimmee Valley Gazette drops cheerfully into the "obfuscated" class on the drainage issue, along with the Punta Gorda Herald and the Democrat. Next!

"The Live Oak Democrat truthfully says that 'in a community or commonwealth where everybody is at work there is very little crime.' Moral: Enforce the vagrant law."—Gainesville Sun.

Mr. Bryan has abandoned his contemplated trip to Australia and New Zealand, and will stay here in his native land where he will be kept very busy for the next two years strengthening his party, watching the Hearst movement, checkmating the Republicans, learning, and perhaps unlearning, on the large question of government ownership, and otherwise getting things in shape to lead the Democratic party to victory two years hence.

The way the Democrats knocked out the Republicans in Arkansas Tuesday was almost bad enough to call for a warning not to hit so hard next time, from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Candidates. The Democrats will have 34 out of 35 members of the State Senate and 95 out of a 100 members of the House. And as for the Democratic candidate for governor, he was 55,000 votes to the good. Little was his name, but large his majority.

Ocala is reaching out for a big debate between Governor Broward and Hon. John S. Beard on the drainage issue, to be "pulled off" in that city on the occasion of laying of the cornerstone of the new courthouse. The County Commissioners have extended a formal invitation to both gentlemen to that effect and it is intended to make it the biggest day with the biggest crowd in the history of Ocala. The Governor will never miss such an opportunity as that to expound the constitution of the Everglades.

If the Cuban rebellion holds out and develops a large and energetic "army" of thieves, hold-ups, murderers and all-round rascals and ragamuffins whose "pernicious activity" will make travel unsafe outside of Havana, it will be so much the better for Florida during the coming winter. The tourist travel in the Island from the States will be shut off and the tourists will make themselves satisfied to remain with us during the entire winter. And if you've got the price, where in the wire world can you get more health, pleasure and recuperative comfort than in the American Riviera?

SORRY HE SPOKE.

We reproduce the following from the DeFuniak Breeze because of the effective and withering rebuke it contains for those individuals whose voices are ever raised in behalf of booze and whose coarse and impertinent tongues never lose an opportunity to taunt a prohibition community because an occasional "blind tiger" gets in its evil and lawless work. The Breeze quotes a whiskey town contemporary as follows and then takes his hide off:

"Several of our young people spent Sunday at Svea where an all-day singing with dinner on the ground was the attraction. This is in Walton, one of West Florida's much touted 'dry' counties and a man was arrested there charged with selling liquor, after making several of the visitors drunk. Think of it!—Florida News."

"Yes, think of it. The man, according to the best of our information a Florala man, and the whiskey he sold was from one of Florala's cherished grog shops, kept by the class of men who do not want keepers of houses of ill-repute arrested because 'it will hurt business.' The whiskey and the man came from over in Alabama where there are lots of good people, but in this instance from a town that voted to license saloons because the town officials were so lax in their enforcement of the law that blind tigers flourished like a green bay tree. Yes, think of it. Think of it again. The editor of a paper that should stand for right and the fear of God, giving a quasi endorsement to the illicit sale of liquor as he does in this article, and when the blind tigers flourished in Florala, who was Mayor? Yes, think of it. Just continue to think and think and think, and the more you think, the more you'll think."

Teddy and his big naval display at Oyster Bay were all well enough as a neat little side-show attraction, but the great ten-elephant circus with its incomparable Jumbo fresh from glittering successes before all the Crowned-heads of Europe, opened its American season at Madison Square Garden, and sweeping in triumph half across the continent, is now hung up for refreshments at Lincoln, Neb. In comparison with that show Teddy and his ships and booming cannon and other spectacular effects are but a second rate attraction. The Sage of Sagamore Hill loves the limelight, but America's greatest private citizen has courteously but firmly shoved him back in the wings and is himself in full possession of the center of the stage. We don't need to mention his name.

The Times-Union reproduces that masterly little joke of ours about Mr. Roosevelt and his "spell," which we will not here repeat lest its delicate flavor suffer from too much exposure, and "Short Talks" comments on it in the following mysterious fashion. "Short Talks" evidently suspects the sincerity of the diagram, which we kindly furnished free with the joke. Hear him:

"The Live Oak Democrat perpetrates a pun and then explains at great length so that the reader shall not miss the point. We suspect the editor of sarcasm. He has evidently read so many alleged jokes in various publications which he wished could be explained that he has set himself the task of furnishing an example. But we hope his lead will not be followed. His efforts to make plain the 'delicate humor' of the joke is highly humorous in itself—but beware lest some one take it seriously and proceed to explain his witticisms."

The "obfuscated" class in the deep science of Everglades drainage grows steadily larger, the last addition to it being the Madison New Enterprise whose editor frankly says that the more he reads about the drainage scheme the less he knows about it. Why not open a kindergarten school for the diffusion of primary learning on this subject? The Governor could give us lectures one week and the Times-Union might spare us a professor for similar purposes the week following. But, anyway, give us light, more light! We are perishing for illumination on this dire and dreadful problem which hangs over us like a nightmare and make take the form of jimjams at any moment unless our understanding is clarified as to its true inwardness. The government ownership of railways is simplicity itself in comparison with this amorphous and amphibious monstrosity rising like an evil spirit out of the mud and mists of the mysterious Everglades.

We have been seeing Hoke Smith's picture in the Atlanta Constitution every day for the last twelve months up to the date of the recent Georgia primary, and it was so infernally ornary that we tuk a violent prejudice agin the man and set him down as a cheap screw who had no business being governor, nor even dog-ketcher. But we were misled and cruelly deceived, for Wednesday's Sonstitution decorates its front page with a large picture of Hoke which we take to be a correct one, drawn by Clark Howell in his calmer moments when the scales had dropped from his eyes, and it makes us sorry for all the evil thoughts we have had about the next governor of Georgia, who is really a mighty fine looking man. And what a deep, heartfelt joy to Hoke himself that he can once more pick up the Constitution without tongs and peruse his noble lineaments without cussin' a blue streak to the peril of his immortal soul and in violation of his church obligations, as was the case when he saw himself pictured every day in the week as an exaggerated Pecksniff with the jowls of a prize hog and a jimcrow halo hovering over his peaked head! Truly the war is over in Georgia, and the Constitution and Journal can now joyfully put their affidavit works in motion and speed themselves up again on the good old issue of which paper has the biggest circulation.

COLORED MAN WRITES LETTER TO MEMBERS OF HIS OWN RACE.

Editor Democrat:—Please allow space in your paper to speak a word of advice to my people in regard to loyalty.

First, I wish to say that there is room for improvement among our race. We do not look on the bright side of things as we should, as a rule. I hope the time will come when we all can see alike for our own good.

A word to the wise should be sufficient, so Mr. Loafer, you had better "skid-doo," "buggers" are after you. Watch my prediction! The idler has no place among respectable civilized people, and as a rule the devil has him employed to do mischief and commit crime, and keep the "green eyed monster" stirred up. I don't believe our Creator loves any lazy person. All I have mentioned makes the race problem more difficult to solve. Away with your loafing and idleness and go to work like men.

I think a man is in a sad condition when he has to be compelled to work for his own self, and it is this class of people who complain of hard times. There is an urgent call for labor all over this land, yet many complain that they can't get work. My brother, you had better find a job, and what thou do, doeth it quickly. This applies to the loafer. You are known, although I may not know you. I hear about you and read about you. The disease (idleness) appears to be general among our colored people, and should be stopped at once or it will lead us to a state of despair.

Remember, my brother, we are on the stage of action and every man should play his part well—but loafing over the country is a drawback to our race and the better element must suffer in consequence therefor. The quicker we rid our county and city of such a class the better it will be for us and our children. We should not keep silent, but put forth every effort to better our condition. If necessary, we should give our assistance of carrying out and enforcing the vagrancy law to the very letter. Some of us are law-abiding citizens and we should assure the officers of our aid and assistance.

Yours for the race,
CHAS. ANDERSON.
